Course Summary

Managing Fraud in the Workplace

The newspapers are full of it. There is no end in sight. The fraudsters have the advantage. There is no big fraud and small fraud – there are big frauds and frauds caught in time. Understand the fraud risk better to ensure that you can identify the fraud when it is still small

It is very difficult to take the right action when fraud is uncovered. The investigation becomes difficult, time consuming, frustrating and expensive. To charge fraudsters criminally becomes a nightmare. Why is this and how can we make it easier?

In almost every organization the risk of procurement fraud is most apparent and severe. Limit our exposure by seeking it out and taking the appropriate action.

Most frauds originate from corrupt relationships. Most corruption has it's origin in excessive entertainment. Learn how simple entertainment

Forensic Investigations and Report Writing Skills

The Forensic investigator must prepare a case from inception to conclusion. But how? It takes years to get years experience. Take a shortcut by learning from those who already have it.

In this very interactive separately workshop, you will learn invaluable tips on the essential tasks of the forensic investigator.

practices can undermine, expose and compromise your integrity.

In fraud, prevention is definitely better than cure. The best way of managing fraud is to prevent it from happening.

This 3 day course aims to provide delegates with an in-depth knowledge of the consequences of corruption and how to combat it. It will not eliminate corruption, but it will provide a stepping-stone, which the delegate can use to better manage the problem at the workplace. It is very practical, participative and based on years of hands-on experience. Key aspects covered are, understanding the problem, recognizing the symptoms, investigating and prosecuting corruption, but with a heavy emphasis on preventative measures.

All About The Course Leader

Eckhard Volker CA (SA) CFE

INTEGRATED FORENSIC ACCOUNTING SERVICES

After studying at RAU, Eckhard completed his articles of clerkship with KPMG in Durban and qualified as Chartered Accountant (SA) in 1991. He specialised in forensic accounting and is recognised as one of its pioneers in the local industry.

In 1997, Eckhard left KPMG to establish Volker Wattrus & de Wit, as a specialist forensic accounting practice. Since 2012, the practice is trading as Integrated Forensic Accounting Services, of which Eckhard is the Managing Director.

Eckhard holds professional associations with IRBA, IIASA, SAICA, SAIGA and Association of Certified Fraud Examiners. Eckhard has remained at the forefront of the academic development of this industry and is a co-lecturer of UNISA's Programme in Forensic and Investigative Auditing course.

Eckhard has extensive experience in forensic accounting and maintains a very hands-on approach in all aspects of forensic accounting. In particular, Eckhard's approach on Procurement Fraud and Corruption is considered as market leading. Eckhard has significant experience in training, which is one of VWM's core competencies. Eckhard's presentation style is popular due to its practical nature. Eckhard likes to use his many personal experiences as case studies to highlight the training material.
